Greetings Fellow Generals

I would like to take a moment to update you on our current progress and future direction. We closed out 2014 with a successful bottom line after a trying few years during our national recession. We are so grateful to have the support of so many alumni who help us provide over $30K per year in support to THS via scholarships and direct school funding. We've been able to do so by cutting costs with e-communications and the tireless work of only a small handful of volunteers - and of course your donations - including our first two donors to enter our Golden General $10K club!

We've recently upgraded our website with an enhanced interactive database and ability to offer clothing and product sales through a third party vendor. We keep alumni updated frequently on Facebook and have instituted a second Annual Fund to directly support and grow our five scholarships, all of which are larger than any others at THS. The arrival of our new Principal, Ms. Charlene DiMino, brings a renewed drive to increase school spirit, and in doing so, many of you answered a survey on this topic. We have partnered with the SGA to support the new mascot uniform and perhaps a campus defining field cannon that pays tribute to General Nathan Towson and our namesake Generals. Additionally, we have begun the very exciting process of creating an alumni museum that will honor our past graduates and motivate our future ones.

How can you help? Officer and board positions are always available - liaisons for reunions, historical collections and social media would also be a huge help. The current Board and I have been holding office for over 20 years - it's time for some new blood - please consider offering your time. Send us an email to inquire - term of office is one year.

In the end though, it's your financial support that truly make us successful. In a month or so, we will be rolling out a "5 for 100" campaign aimed at starting the process of endowing our scholarships for life. The premise is that we currently mail to over 20,000 alumni. If each alum were to give us a $5 bill - we would generate a very rapid $100,000. Look at it like the impressive bucket challenge - only you won't get wet!

Consider the possible effect of such a small donation and take a moment to understand how lucky we all were to have received the education we did from THS - still a leader in Maryland and with our Blue Ribbon Status- Nationally! Thanks and Go Generals!

Randy Bowers '87
THSAA President

Alumni Participation is What Keeps the Alumni Association Going

We are in need of new board members to create new ideas and direction for the organization. We are also looking for the more formal positions of VP, Treasurer and Secretary. Meetings are once a month about 6 months a year.

Annual Fund Donors

We thank everyone for their support! For those that did not donate to the fall campaign, please consider a donation to the spring campaign - even as little as $5 from everyone we mail to would provide $100K of support!!!

Big Break

Towson native stages TV takeover this month.

Written by Amy Mulvihill, Baltimore Magazine

Peter Kendall '04

PHOTOGRAPH BY MIKE MORGAN

See that guy sitting in the chair above? Remember that face, because you're going to be seeing a lot of it on your TV this month—and likely in the future, as well.

Towson-raised actor Peter Mark Kendall is "blowing up," as the kids say, with appearances on three highly anticipated series set to debut or return this month.

First, he'll appear in three episodes of HBO's much-lauded dramedy Girls, which returns for its fourth season on January 11. Then, the next night, MTV's new cyber-crime police drama Eye Candy, on which Kendall has a recurring role, will debut. Finally, on January 28, the acclaimed spy drama The Americans resumes on FX with Kendall in yet another recurring (and top-secret) role.

And let's not even get started on his upcoming appearances in movies with the likes of Jesse Eisenberg, Isabelle Huppert, and Richard Gere. Not bad for a kid from Rodgers Forge.

A talented musician who plays several instruments, Kendall entered McDaniel College thinking he'd be a music major but found he disliked the almost monastic lifestyle music study required. Having acted at Towson High, he got involved in McDaniel's theater program and quickly switched majors.

"I started resenting music and having to practice for four hours in a room by myself, but I never really felt that way about acting. I couldn't really think of anything that I'd rather do more," says Kendall, 28.

After college, he moved to Hampden and began auditioning, supporting himself by waiting tables and walking dogs. Appearances at Baltimore Shakespeare Festival and Center Stage earned him his equity card and then, after auditioning three years in a row, he was accepted into the prestigious Brown University and Trinity Repertory Company MFA acting program.

"That was a big thing for me creatively and professionally," he acknowledges. Now living the actor's life in New York, he still returns to visit his parents, who have since relocated to Pikesville. "I love Baltimore so much. I'd like to come back more," he says.

Somehow, we doubt he'll have time.

New Memorial Funds Established

FRANCIS SHORE MEGINNIS

Recently a group of students of English teacher Ms. Frances Shore Meginnis decided to show their gratitude by creating an endowed scholarship in her name. They credit her with providing an excellent educational experience in a very supportive environment. The scholarship will provide a graduating senior an award for excellence in English competency and composition.

Anyone interested in contributing to this tax deductible endowment should forward their donation indicating "Meginnis Scholarship."

ENDOWED MEMORIAL FUNDS

That being said, we have recently had several individuals who want to make donations in other teachers and administrators' names. We would also like to create an endowed memorial account that will grow in their names to forever fund our student scholarships. Simply dedicate your donation and we will pass the money along and post your dedication in our next news note.

Who's that...

Our new Generals Mascot that's who! Working in conjunction with the SGA - we were able to give Towson a much needed mascot to support school spirit. The mascot represents a caricature version of our city's namesake and war of 1812 hero General Nathan Towson- welcome "Nate!"

job. His teaching style and methods, and especially his class field trips, are legendary. Many of his students from those few years stayed in touch; he was in fact, still waiting for a photo essay from one student to change his grade from an incomplete. Some have noted that they went on to careers in biology due to his influence. A man of action, while working at the Natural History Museum in Raleigh, he organized and implemented countless programs and field projects to answer questions that were critical to the preservation of a species or group and to protect ecosystems and habitat.
